

ISLANDS weddings & honeymoons

August 16, 2004

To whom it may concern,

I hired Trace Robinson as floral editor for the Spring/Summer 2004 issue of Islands Weddings & Honeymoon magazine to help with a story featuring floral designs from top hotels and resorts on islands worldwide.

Her knowledge of flower material and arranging were instrumental in the early conceptual stages for the article. She brainstormed with staff, adding logistical input and concepts of how to construct the bouquets and get them ready for the photo shoot. Her expertise not only in designing arrangements but in the actual language of communicating styles and flower types was essential throughout the project.

During the many months of preparation through the final stages of production, Trace handled herself in an artistic, resourceful, and professional manner.

I am certain you will be pleased in any capacity in which you work with Trace.
